

Several choice locations have been picked out for the court house.

Those who know say one glimpse of the "Taft smile" is worth more than a ten spot.

"We have implicit confidence in Prof. Colcock's integrity and ability."—Marion Star. So have we.

It is not probable that Peary will employ Prof. Colcock to prove that Dr. Cook did not reach the pole.

Senator Tillman would be a really great man if he did not have such a propensity for springing sensations at unexpected moments.

The New County can afford to erect a very creditable court house, in view of the fact that it will not need a poor house and jail.

Dan Sully, ex-cotton king, will be one of the attractions at the State Fair, but Sully will not attract near as much attention next week as he did several years ago.

It is reported that the dispensary winding-up commission is about to hold another final meeting. The old dispensary must have been in a terribly run-down condition.

Senator Tillman says he will not be a candidate for re-election to the senate, unless "they try to kick him out." Please everybody insist on the senator's running again.

The first name of the fellow Weiskopf, under indictment in connection with dispensary label scandal, is Dennis, but then there is nothing in a name—before a Richland jury.

Elsewhere in this issue is published an article from the columns of the Latta News showing that our enterprising sister town is being discriminated against in the matter of railroad facilities. New railroads are crossing the country on both sides of Latta, but unfortunately the roads come from toward Clio—the terminus of the Latta branch railroad—and as it would be impracticable to parallel the Latta branch road, it is readily seen that neither of the new roads will touch at Latta while there is so much undeveloped territory accessible on both sides. Circumstances have placed Latta in a rather awkward position, but her predicament only adds strength to the suggestion made by The Herald some months ago to build an extension of the North & South Carolina railroad to Latta by way of Dothan. Such a connection would give Latta equal railroad facilities with Dillon and she would then be independent of the Coast Line or the other railroads which threaten to come only near enough to do her injury in a commercial way. A branch road from here to Latta would open up an excellent farming country, and should draw enough trade from Latta and adjacent territory to make the enterprise a paying one. If the present generation lives out its days it will see a network of railways in the Pee Dee country, and a branch line from Latta to Dillon would only be anticipating events by half a score of years, at the most.

Shortage in Marlboro?

Bennettsville, October 24.—Special: The final report of the grand jury for Marlboro County called attention to the differences in the books of the county treasurer and county superintendent of education.

It seems that the grand jury was unfortunate in not going into the matter in detail and allowing the public to know exactly what it meant by discrepancies. The report of The News and Courier correspondent has attracted some attention, and a number of inquiries have been made in regard to the actual differences and discrepancies referred to. That report read as follows: "The grand jury finds that there appears to be a discrepancy in the books of the treasurer and superintendent of education, and it recommends the employment of a competent accountant to audit the books of the county." The words of the grand jury are as follows: "There appears to be a discrepancy in the books of the county treasurer and those of the county superintendent of education, and the grand jury did not receive any adequate explanation of the same, and would recommend that these books, together with those of the other county officers, be examined by some competent accountant."

In discussing the matter with the treasurer and superintendent of education with more money than seems to be due that office from the books of the superintendent of education. In other words, the treasurer has collected and now has on hand and has credited the school funds with more money than is charged against the treasurer by the county superintendent of education. The collections by the treasurer and records thereof correspond as they should with the books of the county auditor. The county superintendent of education says that the Comptroller General has instructed him to check out this money and dispose of it by apportioning it according to the rules governing the application of the constitutional 3 mill tax. The amount involved is about $1,000.

The Races at Dillon.

Last Thursday the usual sports, were at the Dillon track. Others who like to meet a crowd, yet the grand stand wasn't packed. A test of speed between two steeds, Alfonso and Marguerite. Each counts their friends by many scores. Victors in many heats. In all great battles lost and won, where death and carnage reigned. The horse has played a noble part, and numbered with the slain. Ever in song and story told, Of matchless deeds performed, The sunken road at Waterloo, Fame; brightest page adorn On many a marble pedestal, The horse shares equal fame, Beneath his master's noble pose, He shares his honored name. But this ideal day, to test the speed, Was all that sports could crave, Alfonso and Marguerite, Looked the racer willing brave. First heat, Alfonso led the race, The second was all his own, The third that put all doubts at rest, Drake's matchless steed had won. A thrilling sight it is to see, This victor on many fields, Alert, alive to his master's call To show his rival flying heels.

Prominent Railroad Officials Here.

Two private cars containing several prominent officials of the Atlantic Coast Line were side tracked in Dillon Saturday afternoon for quite a while. In the party were General Superintendent W. N. Royall; E. V. Pleasants, assistant to Supt. Royal; C. M. Jones, engineer of roadway; C. J. Kelleway, signal engineer; Capt. W. H. Newell, division superintendent; J. Q. Jeffords, road master and quite a number of private secretaries to the officials. The officials were on a tour of inspection and spent some time looking over their properties in Dillon. They left at 6 p. m. going south.

Menton's Future.

Editor Herald: I will attempt to write a few lines to your valuable paper. I hardly know how to start, as news is scarce up here, but will try to scratch a short letter. First, I will attempt to write a brief description of Menton, better known as the sand bed. Menton is the only station on the new railroad between Little Rock and Clio. It was supposed one time that Gallavon would be the place selected, but for some cause it was not, and now they have a depot completed at Menton, and one that would be a credit to a place of note, and it certainly is a credit to the Sand Bed.

Mr. Clarence McLaurin has built a gin house there and installed two gins. I have been told that he is doing an extensive business ginning and he also has a store, and though small, it adds "so much" to the place.

I will stop writing about that little place now, for I don't know anything else to say; will try to tell more about it later.

The latest new county news is that we can get the area and now if we can only get the votes we are sure of the success of the effort of many years and I trust the wishes of those who have been working so hard, and so long, will soon be gratified, and that before nineteen nine is gone, we can be a brand new county all to ourselves with Dillon the county seat.

I guess that I had better not say any more about the new county, for it is talked about enough anyway, and by some that are competent to do the subject justice but I am not.

I must say a few words about Little Rock before I close. Our depot is about done, and it certainly is an improvement to our little place. It is true that it is not growing very fast, and it will be a long time before our hamlet will be as large a place as Dillon if ever. But we surely are expecting some improvements, and feel satisfied that there will be.

Now I don't think that they have commenced paving the streets yet, and don't expect that they will soon, but I do think that Little Rock has a bright future, and we hope to see business buildings and magnificent dwellings erected here before many months.

I am afraid that some of the Judson people will always be disappointed and some what jealous of Little Rock and Menton, because they wanted the railroad to be built by there but they will have more convenient shipping facilities than heretofore, and I hope that the "pinder and cracker" crowd will soon become reconciled, and not think hard of us for appreciating what they worked so hard for, and failed to get.

Now it is not my intention to touch any one's feelings by saying the "pinder and cracker crowd," and hope that no one will be offended by being called a member of that "Class," and hope they will not think I mean to say any slight of them, but I did hear some of the people up there spoken of as the "pinder and cracker" crowd and surely it isn't any harm to joke a little.

I had better bring this to a close for it is too long now, unless it was of more importance. Wishing you much success, "Brown Eyes."
